

Prearranging

“Why Preplan?”

There are at least two very compelling reasons to preplan your funeral and cemetery arrangements. There are the emotional reasons, like protecting your family from having to make major decisions at an especially demanding time. And there is the practical reason, like saving money by paying in advance, and protecting against future cost increases.

Peace of mind for your loved ones...

Preplanning saves your family the burden of having to make difficult decisions at the worst possible time. All your wishes concerning every element of your arrangement are clearly on record.

Even if you do not prepay, it is important to make your selections so that your wishes are documented. This important step protects your family from having to guess what you “would have liked”. We will keep your selections on file in our office and carry them out exactly as you specify.

Peace of mind for you...

Financial reasons are just as important. If you preplan with us and prepay, we guarantee that the arrangements you specify will be available at the contracted price when the need arises.
